Campus:	North Terrace
Contact:	4 days intensive
Restriction:	Available to Graduate Certificate in Music Teaching students only
Assessment:	Folio of materials with critical surveys and commentary 70%, Written assignment 30%
Syllabus:	The course underscores the importance of mapping chosen teaching materials to pupils' developing needs and aspirations in the context of the Australian Curriculum and Australian National standards. Students will conduct a materials survey, investigate the principles underpinning individual and group teaching and develop perspectives on currently relevant national and state curricula and standards. Students will create a Folio of appropriate materials and relevant documents associated with Individual and Group teaching. Lectures and tutorials will allow students to explore elements that are common to teaching and learning in various instrumental groupings and those that differ. Relevant general principles of learning and teaching music at developing skill levels and representative age ranges will be surveyed.
