

MUSPED 5006 - Individual and Group Teaching B

Career:	Postgraduate Coursework
Units:	3
Term:	Semester 2
Campus:	North Terrace
Contact:	2 days intensive & online components
Restriction:	Available to Graduate Certificate in Music Teaching students only
Assessment:	2500-word written assignment 70%, Short critical reviews online 30%
Syllabus:	This course supports the view that the acquisition of musicianship skills, including aural acuity and theory comprehension, underpins pupils' growth as proficient executants, appreciative listeners and motivated creative participants in musical activities. Students will investigate through a written assignment effective means whereby pupils' aural and theoretical perceptions and concepts can be developed as firm musical foundations for learning. Working in an online environment students will also familiarise themselves with the use of current technology in delivering meaningful musical instruction for pupils in Individual and Group settings.
